Re: VIcom Attains Silver Level in AVAYA Connect Partner Program

Virginia Beach and Richmond, Virginia – Virginia Integrated Communication (“VIcom”) announced today it has attained Silver Partner Level in the AVAYA Connect Partner Program. VIcom is a Virginia based business that began in 2001 and has been offering businesses total integrated communication solution packages that include hardware, software, professional services, network integration services, and implementation for large and small business, and institutional customers in the Mid-Atlantic Territory.

The AVAYA Connect Silver Level achievement acknowledges that the VIcom team has demonstrated comprehensive skills and customer satisfaction of AVAYA solutions. AVAYA Connect Silver channel partners earn their status by certifying staff members in the design, sales and implementation of AVAYA systems and software, and must meet rigorous training and customer satisfaction criteria. Achieving Silver Level ensures that VIcom can offer all of the features and products of the Avaya product line.

“VIcom recognizes the importance of investing in the skills needed to help businesses transform their operations” says Dennis Schliske, President and CEO of VIcom. “We realize that the ability for businesses to communicate is crucial for their success.”

For communication being such a huge factor, it is essential for businesses to communicate effectively not only with their staff, but with their clients and customers. Business may find that communication through technology saves money, time and energy. Many challenges arise when implementing technology into communication platforms. Understanding the problems and symptoms to communication challenges within a business is the only way to find solutions to overcome these obstacles. The VIcom staff is certified to be able to diagnose such problems and provide customers with the best service possible. The Avaya Connect Silver Level achievement ensures that VIcom can offer all the features and products of the AVAYA product line. This level of commitment to AVAYA will ensure that VIcom is more competitive and provides further value to our clients.
